I'm going to tell you a few words in Glaswegian:

- tae = to
- wae = with
- get mad wae it = going out to have a fiesta
- catch ye after = see you later

Glaswegians still speak English, just a dialect of it.

My name is Ross and I am going to tell you about what it is like living in...

Glasgow

Glasgow is a really great place to live, there are some amazing sights to see:

One sight is the Clyde Auditorium, familiarly known as "The Armadillo", is a Glasgow concert venue.

Another Glasgow location is Clyde Side — A famous Glasgow T.V. show is Taggart and they actually filmed an episode or two in one of my friend's houses, which was on my estate.

There are different parts of Glasgow, like

Jordanhill (where I used to live) Broomhill (where my old school was) Hyland (where my old secondary school was) and then you get the "rougher" parts like Yoker, Whiteinch, Scotstoun, Partick (the black and white picture below). In some of these places you can find a group of people who are called a "Fleeto" and in the very rough parts of Glasgow you can sometimes find these gangs (Fleeto) fighting each other.

FLEETO LAND ENTER AT OWN RISK

I could use no real images of Partick because of inappropriate use of fingers!

My Dad had worked there for 6 years but then he moved to Sporting Gijon to play.

Glasgow is the home of the best football derby in the world: Rangers vs Celtic!

Fables, by Phoenix, Year 9.

1. It was cold, it was wet, and it was windy. It was always cold, wet and windy, 24/7 every day in Iceland, where she lived. Torrential rain, freezing gales and ice-age temperatures. She was sick of it. So she left Iceland and went to Egypt.

It was hot, it was dry, but it was still windy. Everyday, 24/7 the wind swept sand into her eyes and gave her conjunctivitis. Baking hot sand, no water around and sand swept blizzards. She was sick of it. So she left Egypt and went to Brazil.

It was hot, it was wet but at least it wasn't windy. Everyday, 24/7 the rain soaked her to the bone and leeches and mosquitoes sucked on her blood. Dense humid land with barely any space and infested with dangerous plants and animals. She was sick of it. So she left Brazil... hang on, she was hunted down by the locals and burnt as an offering to the sky gods.

The end.

MORAL: Be happy with what you have

2. She pretended she was sad, he asked why. She said her dad died. He gave her some sweets. The next day she pretended she was sad again. He asked why. She said her mum died. He gave her some chocolate. The next day she pretended she was sad. He asked why. She said her dog died. He gave her some crisps. The next day she was dead. He asked why. The police said she was diabetic and had had too much sugar.

The end.

MORAL: Don't make up lies, they can backfire on you

3. She was hungry. She bought a big packet of biscuits, but she had to wait until lunchtime to be able to eat them. He was also hungry, so he bought another packet of biscuits. They were both allergic to gluten. Lunchtime came.

She was so hungry she began to wolf the biscuits down. He read the ingredients and didn't eat them. Instead, he ate an apple. Ten minutes later, she was dead. Her throat was swollen and she wasn't able to breathe. He was alive, he hadn't taken the biscuits.

The end.

MORAL: Slow and steady is better.

4. She was a horrible girl. Whenever someone failed an exam she laughed at them. One day someone got cross and said to her "Hey! If you fail, don't expect us to be nice to you!" but she laughed, because she was an A* student. But one day, she failed a history test. Everyone laughed at her. The next day she was sad and so upset she couldn't concentrate and failed again. She was laughed at.

Gradually, it got so bad she tried to run away, but was stopped by her mum. Her mum said, "You should have treated people the way you wanted to be treated" and she too, laughed at her daughter. Her daughter proceeded to run away, and her mum was never saw her again.

The end.

MORAL: 1) Treat people the way you want to be treated. 2) Forgive them father, they know not what they do: Help educate others so that everyone benefits.

This is the ESA name quiz!

Which mobile phone?

iPhone 4

The iPhone 4 is a touchscreen Smartphone developed by Apple Inc. The most noticeable difference between the iPhone 4 and its predecessors is the new design, which incorporates an insulated stainless steel frame that acts as the device's antenna. It is probably the most expensive phone in the market right now.

The bands between the front and back are gone and have been replaced with flattened surfaces. The iPhone 4 is structured around a stainless steel frame that wraps around the edge of the phone. The left section of the band serves as the Bluetooth, Wi-Fi, and GPS antenna, and the right and lower sections of the band act as the antenna for GSM and UMTS connectivity.

The internal components are situated between two panels of aluminosilicate glass, described by Apple as being "chemically strengthened to be 20 times stiffer and 30 times harder than plastic".

The iPhone 4 allows audio conferencing, call holding, call merging, caller ID, and integration with other cellular network features.

by Antonio Martinez. Mr Coleman's ICT class.

Samsung Galaxy S2

Samsung Galaxy S2 is probably the best mobile phone that Samsung has launched. It is a Smartphone running under the Android operating system. For the Galaxy S II, the standard micro USB port found on the bottom of the device can be used with an MHL connector for an HDMI connection to an external display such as a high definition television.

The Samsung Galaxy S2 has the S5PC110 processor. This processor is capable of up to 20 million triangles per second.

It was chosen Best European Smartphone of the Year. It is a tactile mobile phone, with the exceptions of three buttons that can be used either to go back to where you were before or the other one to go straight to the main menu. You also have a button to use when you are already in an application .It is considered by many people to be the most sophisticated mobile phone that actually exists.

The Samsung Galaxy S2 comes with an option to connect to Wi-Fi networks through private virtual , which use special security protocols to access private services. This access is only for authorized persons.

Blackberry Curve 9300

The BlackBerry Curve is certainly one of the easiest to set-up email on. You should have your email up in running in minutes.

One of the biggest changes on the Curve is the replacement of the usual trackball with a track pad. Its sensitivity can be adjusted. The slight slant on the keys helps to ensure more accurate typing, which makes it easier to get used to. It is equipped with a 2 megapixels rear-camera with the maximum resolution of 1600x1200 pixels.

The phone also boasts 256 MB of RAM, 256 MB of ROM and expandable memory of micro SD card up to 32 GB. The value-added features of BlackBerry Curve 9300 are the push mail service, personal e-mail with up to ten accounts and BB Messenger. It's a great Smartphone if you compare its price with all the features it has.

For local connectivity, the device provides the Bluetooth 2.1 version and micro USB 2.0 port, and for wireless connectivity, it has lots of different versions that it can use .

by Antonio Martinez. Mr Coleman's ICT class.

HTC Sensation

The HTC Sensation includes an immersive HTC Sense experience making this phone easy-to-use and also a top entertainer. The premium design, complete with contoured glass edging, feels great in your hand. It is a multimedia super phone.

Surf the web in style with multi-window browsing, a quick lookup tool for jumping to Wikipedia or YouTube. With the instant capture camera, the moment you press the button is the same moment the photo is captured.

The lock screen has been transformed into a window to the magic on your phone. When checking the weather you can feel the sun's rays or wipe away the droplets of water.

It has a huge range of connectivity onboard, from Wi-Fi, to Bluetooth 3.0. Bluetooth connection strength and speed was very good throughout our review time, with wireless headphones showing no problems and the range was impressive too, with around 10 metres being the maximum distance (with walls in the way).

Year 5 Poetry from Mrs Waugh's class

We have been reading poems by Benjamin Zephaniah. We loved his poem Danny the Cat (read it here: www.allaboutanimals.org.uk/PK-Poetry4.asp) which Benjamin wrote about a day in the life of his cat.

We wrote our own versions about animals that we know. Here are four of our favourites:

The Pig By Gonzalo

The pig wakes up
Goes to a private place
Rolls in the mud
Looks for a shady place
And sleeps

The pig wakes up
Eats pig swill
Says "oink" lots
Rolls in mud
Looks for a shady place
And sleeps

The pig wakes up
Finds another pig
Plays roll in the mud
Looks for a shady place
And sleeps

The pig is
As round as a football
As strange as an alien
As funny as a clown

Jeronimo the Turtle By David

Jeronimo wakes up,
Eats prawns
Drinks water
Sleeps in the palm trees
He does swimming races
And plays with me.

The Snake By Mateo

The snake slithers
Coils in the bathroom
Helps me eat
And slithers again

The snake slithers
She reads National Geographic
She looks at my homework
And then slithers again

The snake
Is 2 metres long
She's got red and black skin
the shape of the eyes
like a diamond
The snake is a busy bee
And slithers again

The snake has hobbies
She likes to hang in the trees
Making silly noises - moving on the floor
She squirrels in the sofa
And slithers again

Webo the glamorous cat By Alec

Webo the cat gets fatter
Wakes up
Gets angry
Sharpens his nails
And sleeps on the bed

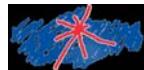

Webo the cat gets fatter
Leaves smell on the Wall
Rolls on the carpet
Eats chocolate
Gives a human heat
And sleeps on the bed

Webo the cat gets fatter
Goes to the garden
Finds a smelly cat
Gets in a fight
And sleeps on the bed

Webo
Is fussy
Is angry
He moves silently
He moves slowly
Webo whines like a dying wolf

Webo has hobbies
Scratching
Purring
Going for walks
Miaowing
And he sleeps on the bed

The BIG interview: Mr Watts

Year 8 pupil Carlos B takes on the Economics maestro to find out: WATT'S going on?

V

good player. She's Czech. And I like Marion Bartoli because she's unusual. And I prefer watching women's tennis to men's tennis because it's a bit slower, the rallies last longer.

Carlos - (laughing) OK, and what are your hobbies?

Mr Watts – Well, I play tennis and I play golf and I spend an awful lot of time listening to music.

Carlos – Yes? What type of music?

Mr Watts – Well -- I like mountain walking too, getting out in the mountains, in the countryside --so it depends;

I like everything, Rock, Reggae, Jazz, all sorts of things, very "old school". Probably not much stuff that you would know, but bands like Steely Dan, singers like Eva Cassidy, Aretha Franklin.

Have you heard of Aretha Franklin, the Soul Singer?

Carlos – Yes, I know.

Mr Watts – Probably, the best singer there ever was, but that's just my opinion.

Carlos – And your favourite group?

Mr Watts – My favourite band... If I had to pick just one...?

Carlos – Yes...

Mr Watts – probably Led

Zeppelin - if I had to pick just one. I really like Steely Dan and Bob Marley. But if I'm allowed only one, it has to be to be Led Zeppelin.

Cont overleaf...

Interview questions devised by Pablo, year 8

Carlos – Where were you born?

Mr Watts – I was born in South London, and I come from a part of south London called Brixton, in the Borough of Lambeth.

Carlos – And what year?

Mr Watts – Too long ago to remember

Carlos - What is your favourite sport?

Mr Watts – ...To play or to watch?

Carlos – To play.

Mr Watts – To play, my favourite sport is tennis.

Carlos – And to watch?

Mr Watts – My favourite sport to watch is cricket, surprisingly. I spend a lot of time watching cricket matches.

Carlos – And your favourite player?

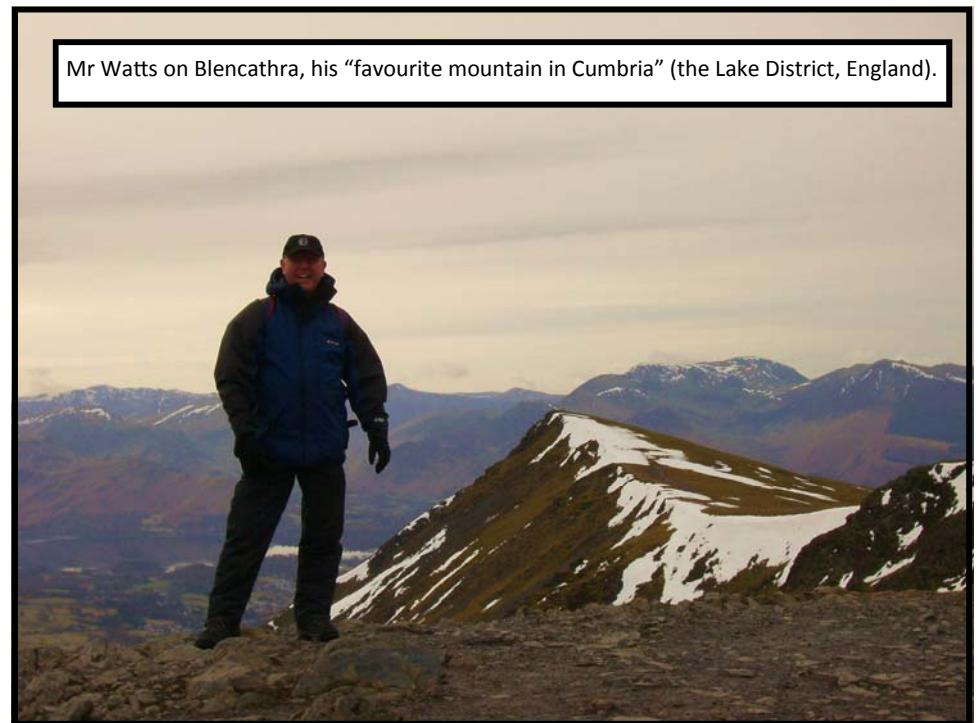

Mr Watts – My favourite tennis player of all time? That's a difficult one... Male: I would say Boris Becker. He won Wimbledon at 17 years old, he was the youngest ever winner at Wimbledon.

Carlos – He was a German player.

Mr Watts – Yes, he was German. He's my favourite player of all time. Female: that's difficult; at the moment, I suppose my favourite player is Petra Kvitová, she's a

The BIG interview continued...

Carlos: And in which place do you like to live in most, England or here in Spain?

Mr Watts – I love it here. In fact, I like it more here this year than I did last year.

Carlos - Why?

Mr Watts – because, at first, it's just too much, then, after a while you start to get used to the place.

And Oviedo, I like Oviedo. I don't spend much time in Gijon, it's nice, but I'm very happy to be in Oviedo. Although, I live in El Berron, everybody knows that, the little railway town, but I do love Oviedo and this weather's exceptional, it's lovely and it does get better, so yes, I'm enjoying it.

Carlos - What is your complete name?

Mr Watts – my full name is Stuart Watts. Now, some Spanish people have a problem with that because in Spanish you can't say an 's' with a consonant after it (like 'st') without putting an 'e' at the front. So everybody calls me 'Estuart'. But its just 'Stuart' without the 'e' at the front but you know that don't you?

Carlos - Yes, I do.

Mr Watts – Anything else I can tell you?

Carlos - Yes, who is your favourite teacher?

Mr Watts – Well, me. I'm my favourite teacher! No, all my colleagues are very good, friendly, very supportive, and very helpful.

Carlos - Best student? Me?

Mr Watts – Well, I don't teach you anymore, do has 2% inflation, England has 5%. Spain has a lot of unemployment – 20% and that's not good. And in England it's about 7%. The Spanish economy is struggling, but we'll get there. Because I'll teach all these people to be good Economists and then they'll fix it, what do you think?

Carlos – Yes, okay!

Mr Watts – and when you're in 6th Form and you do Economics, you can run Spain.

Carlos – OK, and any favourite job?

Mr Watts – Well, yes, I like teaching.

Carlos – Yes, but not teaching?

Mr Watts – I've done all sorts of things.

Carlos - Like what?

Mr Watts – For example, I've worked in a holiday camp. I've worked in catering and in the dock yards driving fork lift trucks. I've worked for a company that painted aeroplanes because when I was a student I had to work to pay for my living costs. But I really enjoyed the dock yard in Portsmouth, I really enjoyed that.

Carlos - Do you have family?

Mr Watts – Nope, no children, no pets... sad isn't it?

Carlos - And your parents?

Mr Watts – they're all dead, I'm afraid.

Carlos – Oh I'm sorry...

Mr Watts – but that happens, that's life, it happens. I imagine all your grandparents are still alive aren't they?

Carlos - Yes they are.

Mr Watts – I hope they live a long time.

Carlos - And your grandparents?

Mr Watts – No, no no no... (they all laugh).

Library magazine appeal

Spare magazines wanted for library

MR AYLING AND MR PONCHON ARE ALWAYS LOOKING TO IMPROVE THE LIBRARY and would like to send out an appeal for any unwanted magazines.

If pupils or parents or teachers have any magazines at home, which would help students with their language skills, please bring them in and give them to Mr Ponchon.

If anyone visits Britain over Christmas and picks up any interesting magazines, if they could add them to the library collection when we return in January that would certainly help students at the ESA!

Mr Daniel's microclimates

MR DANIEL SET THIS HOME-WORK. IT WAS ABOUT MICROCLIMATES which are: where a local atmospheric zone differs from the surrounding area. The students from the class illustrated different microclimates. Some demonstrated the effect of "physical features", "aspect", "shelter and buildings". I did "physical features". I made it with paper but some people completed their homework with materials like stone, wood, wool, clay, card or small bricks. I really liked this homework because we could use our imaginations and any material we wanted.

THE CHESS INTERVIEW

STANLEY PHILLIPSON BROWN, OF THE ESAMAG EDITORIAL TEAM, CHECKS IN WITH HIS CHESS PLAYING MATE GUILLERMO, Y9B, TO DISCOVER THE BACK AND FORTH OF THE PROFESSIONAL BOARD GAME

WHY DO YOU LIKE PLAYING CHESS?

FIRSTLY MY PARENTS PUT ME INTO CHESS AND I STARTED LIKING IT AND MY TEACHER MOTIVATED ME BY TELLING ME THAT I WAS PROGRESSING VERY FAST AND I WAS ALREADY VERY GOOD.

WHY CHESS AND NOT SOME OTHER GAME, TAKE... BACKGAMMON FOR EXAMPLE?

CHESS HAS A LONG HISTORY AND IS WELL KNOWN AND HAS BEEN STUDIED TO A VERY DEEP LEVEL AND THERE ARE LOTS OF DIFFERENT STYLES OF PLAYING, AND ALSO, WHEREAS BACKGAMMON IS A LUCK GAME, CHESS IS A THINKING GAME.

SO WOULD YOU SAY CHESS IS COMPLETELY ABOUT SKILL, AND THERE IS NO LUCK INVOLVED?

WELL THERE CAN BE LUCK INVOLVED BUT THE ONLY INsofar AS IF YOUR RIVAL MESSES UP.

WHAT IS DIFFERENT ABOUT PLAYING IT AT A PROFESSIONAL LEVEL?

WELL, I THINK A LOT ABOUT MY MOVES AND I DON'T MOVE JUST BECAUSE IT LOOKS GOOD THERE. NO, I THINK ABOUT IT A LOT AND SEE THE DANGERS TO MY PIECES ABOUT 5 MOVES AHEAD.

WHO TEACHES YOU CHESS AND ARE THERE MANY PEOPLE IN-## VOLVED IN THE PROFESSIONAL COMMUNITY?

YES IN ASTURIAS THERE ARE MANY CLUBS AND TEACHERS. CESAR BOO IS MINE, AND IF THEY DID A COMPETITION OF CHESS TEACHERS IN ASTURIAS, HE WOULD PROBABLY WIN.

WHAT WAS YOUR MOST IMPORTANT GAME?

I TIED WITH THE CHESS PRESIDENT OF ASTURIAS.

AND YOUR MOST PAINFUL ONE?

MY LAST GAME. I WAS WINNING THROUGHOUT THE GAME AND THEN I MESSED UP. I THOUGHT 6 MOVES AHEAD AND DIDN'T REALISE I LOST IN THE 7TH ONE.

WHEN WAS THE LATEST CHESS COMPETITION AND ARE THEY HAPPENING AT REGULAR INTERVALS THROUGHOUT THE YEAR?

MOSTLY THERE ARE. THERE IS A BIG ONE FROM SEPTEMBER TO DECEMBER, THE TEAM COMPETI-TION.

CAN YOU GIVE ME THREE REASONS WHY YOU LIKE CHESS AND WHY YOU WOULD RECOMMEND IT TO ANOTHER PERSON TO TAKE UP CHESS?

IT HELPS YOU IN YOUR STUDIES BECAUSE YOU CONCENTRATE VERY HARD AND BECAUSE DEDICATION TO SOMETHING CAN BE USED AS AN ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENT FOR ENTERING A UNIVERSITY. IT'S REALLY GOOD FUN AND I ENJOY IT.

HOW DO YOU FEEL WHEN YOU WIN?

REALLY GOOD. I LOVE BEATING ADULTS.

ARE THERE COMPETITIONS WHERE EVERYONE COMPETES TOGETHER REGARDLESS OF AGE?

YES THERE IS JUST ONE IN ASTURIAS IT IS CALLED EL CAMPEONATO DE ASTURIAS INDIVIDUAL.

DO YOU EVER FIND CHESS BORING OR REPETITIVE?

NO, THE CHANCE OF PLAYING THE SAME GAME TWICE IS SO LOW IT IS NONEXISTENT FOR PRACTICAL PURPOSES.

TWILIGHT IS A SERIES OF FOUR VAMPIRE-THEMED FANTASY ROMANCE NOVELS by American author Stephenie Meyer. It tells the story of the life of Isabella Swan (Bella), a teenage girl who, as a consequence of the divorce of her parents, has to move with her father to Forks, Washington, where she meets, and starts feeling mysteriously drawn to 104-year-old vampire named Edward Cullen. Edward and Bella fall in love irremediably, and find out that their lives will never be the same again.

So far, the four books have won multiple awards (the series as a whole won the 2009 Kids' Choice Award for Favorite Book) and all of the films released up til now have been a complete success, so much so that the author and the series' popularity are often compared with J. K. Rowling and Harry Potter. Many explain this popularity to the fact that the saga teaches teenage girls that abstinence can be sexy.

The films, from Summit Entertainment, whose main characters are played by Kristen Stewart (Bella), Robert Pattinson (Edward) and Taylor Lautner (the werewolf Jacob Black) have become a sensation, especially among young adults.

“many boys refuse to give the saga a try since they feel that it would be far too romantic for them to survive”

The fourth and final novel in the Twilight Saga by the American author Stephenie Meyer, Breaking Dawn, won the 2008 British Book

Award for Children's Book of the Year, and on 18/11/11 Breaking Dawn Part 1 -- which begins with the events of Bella's and Edward's marriage -- arrived in Spanish cinemas! My personal opinion was that the film was fantastic, very entertaining, and everyone I know so far can't wait for Part 2 to be released. I would like to recommend it to everyone, many boys refuse to give the saga a try since they feel that it would be far too romantic for them to survive, but actually, the ones I know who did give it a try, enjoyed it.

CHARITY REPRESENTATIVES CAME INTO ESA TO GRATEFULLY TAKE POSSESSION of moneys raised by the Roman, Greek, Viking and Egyptian Houses.

The representatives from Caritas and Angel de la Guarda, who came to the secondary assembly, are pictured alongside their respective secondary House captains and the reps from Cruz Roja and Cocina Economica can be seen with their respective primary House captains.

Cruz Roja had €2,177 presented to them by Romans Violeta & Rodrigo Y6.

Cocina Economica had €1,700 presented to them by Greeks Blanca & Beltran Y6.

Angel de la Guarda had €1,300 presented to them by Vikings Laura R & Fruela Y12.

Caritas Oviedo had €1,000 presented to them by Egyptians Julia Y13 & Marina Y12.

The symbolic cheques represented the money that had been raised during the previous academic year.

Norway report

WHEN I WAS SIX YEARS OLD I LIVED IN NORWAY, IN A SMALL CITY CALLED STA-VANGER but I also visited other cities like Bergen and the capital, Oslo.

Norway is a very cold country during the winter, but in the summer you can get really sunny days too. The temperatures can be as low as -20°C but that does not stop people going swimming in the sea, or doing outdoors activities like bike riding, horse riding, canoeing and lots more.

One of my favourite times was around Christmas when there was snow everywhere and the town and the boats in the harbour were decorated with small lights.

In winter, it doesn't get bright until 10:00 in the morning and it is dark again around 14:00 pm. However during spring-time is the other way around and you never see the night. The first stars start showing in mid-August.

Norway is the fifth biggest country in Europe although the population is only 4.5million people. The Vikings (not the ESA House! The historical kind) were the first people to live in Norway and they ruled for about 500 years. Norway became highly populated, which forced them to travel to other countries in search of more land. They went to England, Ireland, Spain, France, Italy and many more. They were great warriors and whale hunters.

From our roving International Editor Fiona Sobolewski

One of the most spectacular landscapes in the world is the Norwegian fjords. These are old glacial valleys that are now covered by the sea. Many tourists come every summer to Norway just to see this fascinating view.

Norway is rumoured to have lots of mythical creatures and the most famous is the troll. Trolls are similar to giants but you can find them in all shapes and sizes. They like the cold, but if they come out when it is hot and sunny, they turn to stone and burst! Some are nice but others can be really wicked.

So, if you ever go to a Norwegian wood, watch out for the trolls!!

THE KEY TO LEVANTE'S SUCCESS

From Sports Editor Pablo P (Yr 9)

INCREDIBLY, THE SPANISH TEAM FROM VALENCIA, ONE OF THE TEAMS IN SPAIN WITH THE LOWEST BUDGET, is now 4th in the Spanish First Division, only 2 points away from Barcelona.

The team passed through a very difficult phase 4 years ago when it descended to the Spanish Second Division. This was a hard time for the club and it almost disappeared, remaining bankrupt for several years. However, their luck came back and they escaped from their situation, ascending the league in 2010.

This year although the roster didn't change much, their playing style did. This was caused by the change of coach. In the last few years, with Luis García as the coach, Levante tried to maintain ball possession. However, the new Levante coach Juan Ignacio Martínez (JIM) has found a more effective way of playing. Levante usually waits in their own half for their opponents, and tries to surprise them on the fast break. This technique works and the result is innumerable marvellous goals.

Probably, one of the keys to its success is the fact that Levante's actual team has an average age of 32, the oldest in Spain. These relatively old players can be useful because their seniority and experience can be an advantage in many ways: they know what to approach each kind of match and they know how to stamp out errors.

An example of this great capacity is that Levante managed to survive NINE consecutive matches without conceding a single goal. This included matches against Real Madrid and Villarreal. Their recent match against Barcelona (5-0) may have ended that run, but they were back on track this weekend with a 1-0 win against Seville. Which ever way their season turns, they will be an exciting team to watch.

UD LEVANTE ON THE BATTLEFIELD

Levante usually plays with four defenders, two midfielders, two wingers and two forwards. The four attacking players exchange positions continuously, which can produce very exciting attacks. Here, I show how different players move around the field.

CRISTINA ALLENDE MÖLLER WAS ASKED TO STRETCH HER DESCRIPTIVE powers by imagining how a Martian might describe the ESA. Read her A grade answer.

"You need to look like Anton and Enrique!"

Those were the first words I heard on my visit to Earth. He was a blond man, dressed in straggling tie, telling a bunch of little kids what to do and what to look like. Back on Mars kids are the ones who tell adults what to do!

We continued through a corridor and I saw the outstanding display, full of stunning colours like a camp full of flowers. Then the strangest thing happened: I went down something called "stairs", where I had to move my feet one after the other down to the next floor... I could hear my feet treading from step to step. It was the strangest feeling I ever had.

I entered a hall where the humans usually eat. A smell directly entered my nostrils, filling my body with the feeling of hunger. At that moment I could have eaten their lettuce! There were various women, dressed in white clothes with hats; they were drinking a black liquid and they were laughing. I could hear a clanking "clack clack clack"; it came from another room, it was quite disturbing and it actually hurt my ear. It was like hearing music!

I exited the room, exhausted after the long walk and entered a dark passage. It was full of displays created by little humans. I looked at their class; and saw them WORKING!! Wait 'til our president hears about this...

I reached a crystal door. To my right I could see a toilet. It gave me a feeling of tension; I went in. There was one for girls and one for boys! It was like Mars... but turned upside down!

Once outside I passed the crystal door and went inside an enormous hall, it was full of little humans running — it looked like a hen house, with millions of hens running hysterically.

I went outside; I felt glorious. The smell of fresh air attacked me and made me feel happy, free, as if I were a bird flying after being in a cage. I looked to the horizon and the warm sun hit my face.

"VVVVRRRUMMM!!" I heard my spaceship coming. My fellows were in there and they came to greet me. It was time to go. I heard the crow of a rooster and birds singing... Mother Nature hugged me good-bye.
